MESOS BUSINESS SCHOOL

MESOS BUSINESS SCHOOL is recognized for its unique ability to train and support institutional leaders. We build bridges connecting academia, the business world and international societies to contribute to a more sustainable global community.

The school, its programs, and activities are led by industry champions and esteemed academics- crisscrossing scholarly excellence with empirical practice. Spread out across the continents in the Business hubs of today's metropolises - staying true to our motto "Born Global, Local Roots".

OUTLINE

In the Higher Diploma - Supply Chain Management, students will acquire an overview of supply chain management, highlighting the evolution and trends of international logistics, procurement, and transport while taking into consideration today's concerns - most notably, geopolitical, technological, and ecological transitions. Program participants will gain the necessary skills to effectively manage global supply chain activities that involve suppliers, plants, distributors and customers located around the globe and help companies become more competitive in today's unstable business world transitions.
